

Introducing School Leaver Employment Support (SLES)

Y.E.S Services are launching School Leaver Employment Supports programs. We are creating a program where everyone can flourish with our committed and passionate staff. Our environment is inclusive and respectful where you can create and achieve your goals. From the 18th of March 2024, our SLES program will be available. Group sessions or individual sessions are tailored to your learning style, using your strengths to build capacity, skills, and knowledge to support your growth. Start your journey today to build Pre-Employment Skills.

What is SLES?

SLES is a National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) funded support. It's designed to assist young people find meaningful employment once they leave school by building their skills, independence, and confidence.

SLES is about laying the foundations a young person will need to engage with employers now and into their future - and building their capacity to live an independent life. While SLES supports are tailored to the individual's situation, support needs, and employment goals, some skills our program can help you develop include:

Who is eligible for SLES?

SLES is available to NDIS participants who are about to leave, or have recently left, school and would like some extra assistance making the transition to working life. While the supports are typically aimed at year 12 students, anyone who's legally old enough to leave school can access them. This is usually around year 10, but this varies depending on which state or territory you're living in. In most cases, the cut-off age for SLES eligibility is 22.
